Saf-T-Gard International, Inc. Earns Fall Protection Repair Certification from Miller by Honeywell
Full-service safety solutions provider adds in-house fall protection equipment repair to its list of services

October 27, 2016 – NORTHBROOK, IL – Saf-T-Gard® International, Inc., a global supplier of head-to-toe personal protective equipment and facility safety solutions for more than 80 years, has expanded its services for customers by offering repairs for Miller Fall Protection (a Honeywell brand). In addition to offering a full line of Miller by Honeywell fall protection products, Saf-T-Gard is pleased to now better service its customers by providing a one-stop shop for both procurement and service.

Saf-T-Gard has on-site certified technicians to repair more than a dozen different models of Miller Self Retracting Lanyards (SRLs), thereby enabling faster turnaround times and increased worker productivity. This, in turn, lowers customers' overall costs when compared to sending out items for repair or product replacement expenses.

"Saf-T-Gard has the relationships and the resources necessary to contribute much more than just safety supplies," said Richard Rivkin, President and CEO, Saf-T-Gard International, Inc. "We are experts in developing safety programs and implementing comprehensive safety systems for an overall safe work environment, which provides a significant reduction in injuries in the workplace and ensures quality and value-driven safety planning for our customers. The ability to now offer Miller by Honeywell fall protection repair services is a natural extension of our business philosophy and practice."
